

To main contacts, CEOs, CFOs, COOs, human resources directors and SFNAs.

AAAA Benefits Offers Disaster Planning Program Through Business Owners Insurance

AAAA Benefits is pleased to announce a Disaster Planning Program through Travelers Risk Management and John Buttine Insurance. Over the last year, through the wake of Hurricane Katrina, disaster planning has become a hot topic for all U.S. companies.

The development of your agency's disaster recovery program, with guidance from Travelers Risk Management and John Buttine Insurance, is available to you only if you have purchased business owners insurance through the AAAA Benefits program. Agencies already in the program are enjoying premium savings up to 50 percent.

The purpose of the program is to provide the agency with a vehicle to:

- Provide for the safety of employees
- Ensure the survival of the organization
- Protect the corporate assets
- Minimize the loss of customers
- Facilitate the resumption of operations.

The working documents available through Travelers and John Buttine Insurance include:

- Checklists to assist with emergency and recovery plans
- Function charts showing the responsibilities of disaster recovery teams
- Description of vital information
- Worksheets for development of a recovery plan.

This information is available to you on the AAAA Benefits Web site, www.aaaabenefits.com, under the heading "Business Owners Insurance." The disaster plan Strategy Guide and Sample Plan, as well as a Business Owners Insurance application, are available to you under the drop down box marked "Forms."

If you would like to do a premium and policy provision comparison, please contact Tom Kennedy at 704-501-4403, tkennedy@aaaabenefits.com, or me.

Elyse G. Congdon
Vice President/Corporate Controller
704-594-6277 (phone)
704-594-6290 (fax)
econgdon@aaaabenefits.com